Last Sunday, March 22, the Lufkin (Texas) Daily News reported that the Southland paper mill had turned out its millionth ton of newsprint.

Prior to 1940 the idea of manufacturing white paper from Southern pine was merely a formula in the mind of the late Dr. Charles H. Herly of Savannah, Ga. But he and his associate chemist, Francis Patrick Garvan, had perfected in their Savannah laboratory a detailed process which was to destroy the Canadian monopoly of making white paper solely from Northern spruce.

And in 1940 Southern industrialists and publishers, headed by Ernest L. Kurth, Texas lumberman, built at Lufkin the world's first newsprint mill using Southern pine. It was helped in the beginning by a Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan, but that was long ago repaid and Southland Paper Mills, Inc., has run up a 13-year record of production and financial success.

The Star is a charter contract-holder with the Lufkin mill, and our readers may judge the quality of the mill's output themselves because they've been reading print on Southland paper the last 13 years.

In forwarding a copy of the Lufkin newspaper Lloyd G. Schenck, vice-president of Perkins-Goodwin company, sales agent for the mill, wrote me on March 23:

"In considering this milestone of progress in the growth of a new Southern industry since the start of operations in 1940, we are reminded of the part that the publishers we serve, and their pressmen, contributed to its development. The attached copy of the Lufkin Daily News commemorating the event will not only serve as an interesting souvenir for you to keep, but also as an expression of personal appreciation for the co-operation and consideration received from you and your associates."

This is a true milestone — the rise of a 25-million-dollar industrial plant, using Southern pine exclusively, on the Texas prairie. It has happened twice since then. The second Southern pine newsprint mill appeared at Coosa, Ala., on the Coosa river in Alabama, being operated under contract by the Kimberly-Clark corporation; and the third is now under construction east of Chattanooga, Tenn., by the British Bower company. And there will be others to come.

But it all started at Lufkin, Texas — only 13 years ago.

Congratulations to Mr. Schenck, Mr. Kurth, and their associates.

Lewisville to Be Caster to Be Caster

According to H. B. Gilbert, chairman of the Hempstead County PMA Committee the Castor Bean hulling center will be established at Lewisville, LaFayette county.

Mr. Gilbert said that a castor bean program survey has recently been concluded by the Extension Service and PMA in Little River, Miller, Hempstead, Nevada, Columbia and LaFayette counties for the purpose of informing farmers of these counties on the production and feasibility of growing castor beans.

He further said that the PMA County Committee will enter into contracts with all farmers pledging acreage for 1953. The contract will guarantee the committee to purchase all hulled beans produced on the contracted acreage delivered at the hulling center at the larger of 9 cents or the market price per pound. Harvesting equipment will also be made available to farmers desiring it. However the beans may be harvested by hand.

The chairman requested all farmers interested in castor bean production to contact the county PMA office in Hope as soon as convenient in order that additional seed for planting may be ordered.

"Seed will be available at the county office," he said. Due to the fact that recommended planting time for this locality is May and early June, farmers who are interested should attend to this matter at once. Mr. Gilbert said.

Awards to Be Given Pack 62

Cub Scout Pack No. 62 of Garland school will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday night at 7:30 at the school. Badges will be awarded and promotions made. All parents are urged to attend.

Bohlen Best Qualified Man, Says Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared today Charles E. Bohlen is the best qualified man to be ambassador to Moscow, and the nomination sticks.

The President spoke out at his news conference after sharp and bitter complaints from Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and some other senators who maintain he should never have nominated Bohlen.

In effect, Eisenhower was merely repeating previous endorsements of his Bohlen choice. But his remarks look on significance in the light of the current dispute.

A reporter remarked that Sen. McCarthy and McCarran (D-Nev.) had questioned whether Bohlen actually was Eisenhower's choice and whether Bohlen was someone's "left-over lieutenant" of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson slipped in.

Nation Would Be Better Off If All the 'Silver Spoon' Boys Were Like Fairchild

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you like to receive a movie-of-the-month, made produced so cheaply you could show it in your home once and then throw it down the incinerator?

This is just one of the dreams in the busy head of Sherman Mills Fairchild, one of the most agile minds of our generation.

"We haven't scratched the surface in the search of an easier, better, fuller life," said Fairchild. "The big problem is to overcome people's inertia against change."

Fairchild is all for change. He has built a fabulous, multi-million-dollar career on one word: "Why?"

He was born with a silver spoon in his mouth — and a golden question mark.

When he was a teen-ager his wealthy parents presented him with a $10,000 Locomobile. Instead of wrapping it around a tree or tuck-

Grim Search Starts for British Slayer

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard pressed grimly ahead today with an inch-by-inch search of the drab "murder flat in Rillington Place," which already has yielded up the bodies of four strangled women one of them six months pregnant.

Police in all parts of the British Isles, meanwhile, were on the look-out for John Christie, dapper, 55-year-old mystery man who had lived for 15 years in the seedy little tenement apartment in London's "rundown Notting Hill" district.

The gruesome discovery recalled testimony of a 1949 murder defendant purporting to link Christie with the strangling of a woman and child in the same house. Christie denied the accusations and the defendant, the woman's husband, was executed.

The latest rash of murders promised to rank in British annals with the honor-crimes of last century's Jack the Ripper, mutilator of street women, and John George Haigh, post World War II killer who drank the blood of his female victims.

Way Open for Return of Windsors

LONDON (AP) — As Britain prepared to bury its beloved Queen Mary, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said today the death of the regal matriarch is a cue for her eldest son, the Duke of Windsor, to return to England to live.

"Let the mourning end his exile," declared the heading over an Express editorial. The newspaper did not mention the duke's American-born duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, but presumably it favors her return; with her husband.

Windsor is now in England, having cut short a Florida vacation to rush to his mother's bedside when her fatal illness was first announced. The duchess remained in New York. She has never been received at the British royal court.

Reuther to Try to Justify Wage Hike

By GLENN ENGLE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers convention stood ready today to pass President Walter P. Reuther some ammunition to use in his current unofficial negotiations with the auto industry.

The ammunition was in the form of a resolution which would threaten the industry with no more long-term contracts after 1955 unless it agreed promptly to some revisions in the five-year agreements now in force. Future contracts would be for no more than two years.

Reuther has contended that the pacts have become outdated because of inflation brought on by the Korean war, which was unforeseen when they were signed in 1950.

He has asked the auto industry to come up with voluntary revisions during negotiations on a conversion from the government's old to its new price index as a pay guide under the cost-of-living wage clause in the contracts.

General Motors already has agreed to make some changes, but not enough to suit the union. The other big companies reportedly have indicated they would prefer to delay action on the matter until next year.

Velde Reveals Red School for Children

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sinister picture of an innocent-looking children's camp in the mountains, turned into a secret Communist party school for revolutionaries, is before the House Un-American Activities Committee today.

Stirring the spectators, Chairman Harold H. Velde (R-Ind.) made a statement which said the "communist school" was in the mountains of California.

The school was held the week of Dec. 27, 1952, at Camp Tenaya, Crestline, Calif., a resort town in the San Bernardino Mountains 15 miles from San Bernardino.

It was "not an ordinary school but rather one of great importance — only for Communist party functionaries and was held under the direction of high Communist party officials."

"It is of particular concern that this school was one of a series of new schools to be held by the Communist party for the purpose of issuing directives to infiltrate shops, key industries, and in particular, defense establishments."

"It is alleged that this school was concluded with an announcement that a dictatorship of the proletariat would take place immediately after a revolution to secure power and that it would be necessary for the party comrades to safeguard against the resurgence of capitalism. The announcement also pointed out that it had taken the Soviet Union 27 years to accomplish this purpose."

Velde said the camp itself, ordinarily closed during the winter months, is operated by Joe Springer and his wife Freya. The springer preceded the calling of Springer as a witness yesterday, third day of the committee's hearings, which may run into next week.

Springer, 42, a wintertime cloak and suit maker in Los Angeles, acknowledged that he and his wife owned and ran the children's camp, but he declined to answer any question bearing on the alleged secret school, because "it would mean I'm testifying against my wife."

Rep. Morgan L. Moulder (D-Calif.) developed the story that the school was held at the Tenaya Camp, which is a resort in the San Bernardino Mountains.

Two Injured in Headon Wreck East of Hope

Two persons were injured late yesterday in a head-on collision east on Highway 67 about three miles from Hope.

Mrs. Doyle Moore, Little Rock, riding with her husband, suffered a broken knee and chin lacerations while Mrs. Joseph Carabatta, Buffalo, N. Y., sustained leg lacerations.

According to investigating officers an auto driven by Joseph Carabatta of Buffalo crashed head-on into an auto driven by Doyle Moore of Little Rock while attempting to pass a third vehicle. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Sheriff C. Cook and Dale Jones witnessed the accident. Following an investigation charges of improper passing were filed against Carabatta. Others investigating were State Policemen Travis Ward and Guy Downing.

Clark Sees No Importance to Old Baldy

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

TOKYO (AP) — Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, said tonight he does not think the loss of Old Baldy on Korea's Western Front is a serious blow, but "it is always serious when we lose people."

The general arrived tonight from a 10-day swing through Southeast Asia.

He told reporters there is no indication the Chinese assault forces shadows a spring offensive by the Communists.

Asked about New York Times story that shipments of artillery shells have been diverted from Korea to other parts of the world because ammunition is overflowing storage space in Korea, Clark answered:

"I know nothing of it."

"We're now in good shape on ammunition," he added.

Clark visited Manila, Hong Kong and Formosa, and took a four-day look at the war in Indochina, where the French and Vietnam forces have been battling Communist-led Vietnam troops for several years.

He told newsmen that he would recommend increased aid to Indochina from the United States.

U. S. to Rush Military Aid to Indochina

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower begins cold war strategy talks with top French leaders today amid reports the U. S. is ready to transfer available funds to rush military aid to Indochina.

Plans for such stepped up military shipments were reported taking shape behind the scenes as the President arranged to meet French Premier Rene Mayer aboard the yacht Williamsburg.

The visiting French leader, as stated by a 35-man delegation which includes three Cabinet officers, was expected to talk in Indochina war plans for the next year at the opening talks.

These plans, already made known to key American agencies, call for mobilization of 57 new commando battalions of Indochinese. However, bigger and faster military cargoes must be sent from the U. S. to make this possible.

American officials, who some times have criticized French operations in Indochina, said they are enthusiastic about the new French plans. They said the Eisenhower administration is ready to back them although this would mean diverting foreign aid funds from other areas.

The President has the right to do this under legislation approved by Congress last summer when it appropriated about six billion dollars for foreign military, economic and technical assistance. Up to 10 per cent of this money can be shifted around.

Sharing importance with Indochina in today's opening talks was France's plans for approving the

Retail Prices Drop, New U. S. Index Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail prices as measured by the government dropped four-tenths of one percent between mid-January and mid-February. It was the largest price decline in any month of the past year.

Falling food prices were mainly responsible.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said the retail price of food, clothing, housing and hundreds of other items bought by moderate income urban families was 113.4 per cent of the 1948-1949 average.

The index for Jan. 15 was 113.3. With the figure at 113.4 for Feb. 15, the government's consumer price index has now declined for three consecutive months from a record peak reached last November.

The decline in one month of five-tenths of one point on the index

Seeks to Ban Industrywide Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Association of Manufacturers asked Congress today to outlaw industry-wide strikes and to stop forcing employers to negotiate health and welfare plans with unions.

George W. Armstrong Jr., president of the Texas Steel Company and chairman of the NAM's Industrial Relations Committee, said in a statement prepared for the Senate Labor Committee, which is considering proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act:

"Compulsory bargaining over employee benefit plans can impose an intolerable burden on the collective bargaining process, threaten its effectiveness, magnify the problems of contract administration, and open up additional areas of labor-management conflict."

Armstrong said the NAM believes the workers' right to strike should be preserved. However, he said Congress should prohibit strikes on an industry-wide basis, sympathy strikes and walkouts to enforce "featherbedding or work-restrictive demands."

Russia Plans Additional Aid to Red China

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets today signed a big new aid program for Communist China to boost their Red ally's heavy industry. In return, the Peiping government will send raw materials to Russia.

Moscow papers announced that a new agreement and two protocols covering the program were signed here recently in the presence of Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. He came to Moscow early this month as head of the Chinese delegation to the funeral of the late Joseph Stalin.

Russia promised to help increase China's electric power capacity by expanding existing power plants and building new ones. Other assistance will be provided in equipping Chinese metallurgical, mining, machinery, chemical, transport and other industries.

The Soviet Union also will supply China with agricultural machinery.

Lady Astor Leaves Very Little Doubt

WASHINGTON (UP)

Lady Nancy Astor told Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) at the Taft tea party for the Eisenhower last night that she wished a drink he was sipping were poison.

Her exact words, Lady Astor recalled today, were: "I wish it were poison." She said them twice—once to anybody who might be listening and once to the senator himself.

What the senator replied, if anything, she did not reveal.

But the visiting Briton, formerly of Virginia, did not go unchallenged. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the "Princess Alice" of the Theodore Roosevelt era, told her:

"Nancy, you're being naughty."

The incident occurred in the near presence of President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their hosts, Sen. and Mrs. Robert A. Taft (R-O.). Lady Astor said she doesn't know whether they heard what she said or the senator. But a lot of others did.

Lady Astor, who used to be a member of the British parliament, is famous for being outspoken and for standing behind the things she says. She confirmed without hesitation her jibe at McCarthy.

DOROTHY DIX Sanatorium Romance

Dear Miss Dix: For the past three years I have been a patient in a tuberculosis sanatorium. Before I came here, I was in love with Ralph, who was four years older than I. At that time, I was 21. Although he had often said he loved me, he hadn't often around to the $64 question when I became ill. For several months after I came to the hospital, he was very devoted, visiting me often. Soon, however, the attention ceased and I heard nothing further from him. A year later I became interested in another patient, whom I shall call Fred. We have lots in common and became very good friends. Now I am about to go home. Fred has asked me to marry him when he is discharged, which will be in a few months. My problem is that Ralph has learned I am going home and has written a long letter begging me to take up where we left off. I'm not sure of my feelings for him now. I loved him once, but the feeling seems to be gone. I have heard that love comes once in a lifetime. I think that's false, since I did love Ralph, and now I love Fred now. I would have an easier life with Ralph, but I prefer to struggle with Fred.

Answer: You need a better perspective on the problem, which you will get by going home, then taking a good look at the situation. Being away from both men for a while, especially in your home, will make things much clearer to you.

Fair-Weather Friend. Ralph seems to be a fair-weather friend who isn't up to coping with all the people. Since your health may never be robust again, this is a consideration you cannot ignore. If he failed you once, he'll do it again. Fred seems a much more congenial person for you, is in a better position to understand whatever restrictions you must observe in the future, and will certainly be more sympathetic. Life with an understanding husband is worth the loss of a few material things.

It's an absurd contention that one can love only once in a lifetime. Few people are married to the high-school sweetheart that once were the center around which the world pivoted. Most folks are in love three or four times before the one and only comes along.

Dear Miss Dix: Every week my two brothers and their girl friends come to our house to play cards. Last week I remarked, as the game was breaking up, that one of my brothers and his girl always quit when they are ahead. I meant it as a casual, kidding remark, and have said the same thing many times before. However, the girl took it as an affront and now my brother and I aren't talking. Should I accept an apology from her? If she gives one, or just not bother with her?

MARY 11. Answer: Since you made the remark that caused the trouble, I think a note of apology is due from you. Whether you meant it as it was taken or not, an explanation is in order. If the girl gets over her huff and is willing to make up, forget the incident.

Dear Miss Dix: For the past five years I have been going with a married man. He has been married 18 years. I have been married 20 years. He claims he loves me, not his wife. Although I put him before my husband, he always puts his wife first. I know it's wrong for us to go on seeing each other, but things like that happen. I just want to know if I shouldn't come before his wife?

THERESA. Answer: You don't say in just what way you expect to come in, but I can assure you your place is very far down the line. You have a very warped idea of love and marriage; the kind of love you give and expect puts you beyond the pale of consideration from his band, lover or friends.

Room to Spare - inside and out

YOU'RE looking at the car that offers you more room and power for the money than any other six-passenger sedan made in these United States.

You're looking at the 188-hp Buick Roadmaster Riviera Sedan, where headroom, hiproom, legroom and kneeroom are so spacious - you can seat six full-size adults in supreme and day-long comfort.

But lest you think this premium roominess comes with a penalty in handling ease - we have good news for you.

This 1953 ROADMASTER is powered by the world's newest and most advanced V8 Engine - an engine so compact, it has permitted the building of an entirely new and far more maneuverable chassis around it.

So every inch of roominess in America's big-room sedan is retained - but now with over three inches less bumper-to-bumper length.

Beyond that, you have easier handling from this Buick's short turning radius - shortest of any other car of equal size and weight.

11-Year-Old Slayr Poses Big Problem

HOPE, Ore. (UP)—An 11-year-old, rusty-haired, 11-year-old, rusty-haired boy, who was captured yesterday while he was hunting for his father and mother, is posing a big problem for the police here.

The boy, described by his teachers as "mild," was captured yesterday while he was hunting for his father and mother, is posing a big problem for the police here.

Smith said the boy had built up a reputation for being a "bad boy" and that the boy said he would not let him do the things he wanted. He said the boy ran away from home about six weeks ago and later received a "bad whip" and "resented it."

Then he and his black cocker spaniel dog began to walk west. Smith said the boy had built up a reputation for being a "bad boy" and that the boy said he would not let him do the things he wanted.

It said segregation exists now in only two of these schools — at Ft. Campbell, Ky., and Ft. Henning, Ga. — but these will be on an integrated basis by next fall.

An army memorandum released by the White House added, however, that segregation exists at schools operated by state authorities on federally owned property at other posts. This, the memorandum said, presents "complicating factors."

"I didn't mean to kill them—only to hurt them," officers quoted him as saying.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. David Crozier, both about 35, were found yesterday morning in their farm home near Hiram, Ore., by a neighbor, State Police Sgt. A. W. Smith.

Fears Military Becoming Prussian Type

WASHINGTON, N. Y. — Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) cautioned Congress today to be on the alert against "Prussian type military plan."

Echoing fears voiced last week by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.), a colleague on the House Armed Services Committee, Van Zandt said "the three principal proponents of this foreign doctrine" are prominent members of a Defense Department committee studying possible legislative changes in the department.

He named them, in a speech prepared for House delivery, as former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett; Dr. Vannoy Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A spokesman for the Defense Department said yesterday the department was "unaware" of any movement to reduce civilian control of the military. He recalled that Secretary of Defense Vannoy had told the House on Friday that supervision of the military "is fundamental in our type of government."

The spokesman was commenting specifically on statements made by Robert W. Johnson, chairman of the board of Johnson and Johnson, makers of surgical supplies. Johnson had told the House on Friday that certain army staff officers were "plotting to throw off civilian control of the armed services."

Johnson also said that Lovett, Bush and Bradley are "committed to the German system which captured civilian authority x x x and ruined Germany."

Van Zandt is a former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) and is a captain in the naval reserve.

He said members of Congress "should be exercised by the plans which are fast coming to fruition to saddle our American Department of Defense with German-type 'super chiefs' and 'super staffs,' alien to American institutions and diametrically opposed to every declaration and law of this Congress."

Van Zandt said he hoped Secretary Wilson will not be influenced by "this stacked committee," but

Auto Dealer Mayor of Fort Smith

FT. SMITH, Ark. — Automobile Dealer H. R. Hestand was elected mayor of Ft. Smith yesterday in the first political race he ever made.

Hestand defeated Chester Holand, a former mayor, 3,627 to 2,789.

The present mayor, Jack Pace, did not seek reelection.

Noted that Wilson appointed the committee.

court, Clever and learned as he is in the law and other pertinent lines of thought, Justice Douglas has reasonably been thought to have weighed these considerations in including the propriety of his own conduct, and to have resolved them in his own favor.

The Sidney Hillman Foundation, Inc. exists in honor of a pro-Soviet native of the Iron Curtain area who founded the Amalgamated Clothing Workers in 1914. He reigned as president-dictator until he died in 1946. Its convention in Chicago, in 1922, with Hillman in the chair, opened with the singing of the anthem, or war cry, of world communism entitled "The Internationale". Hillman then read a message of greeting from William Z. Foster, one of the leaders of the American Communist party, and the convention decided to organize a big corporation to help Soviet Russia build up a clothing industry. This was done at the time when the government of the United States, which had given Hillman asylum from the czarist laws and punishments, was maintaining its refusal to "recognize" Soviet Russia.

It never was officially established that Hillman was a member of the Communist party, but his most devoted disciples would not deny that he was a great friend of Soviet Russia and knew exactly what Russia's attitude was toward the government of the United States and the co-existence of capitalist nations and Soviet Russia. That attitude was implacable hostility. Hillman was a powerful political accomplice of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Arthur Krock's historic newspaper story that Roosevelt in 1944 said "clear it with Sidney" has been widely accepted as fact. If this is true, it means that Hillman dictated the nomination of Harry Truman for Vice President that year and thus faithfully chose the man who represented the United States in the Potsdam surrender to Russia.

Hillman organized the political action committee of the CIO in collusion with notorious Communists, including John Abt, who was general counsel of the PAC and Leon Pressman, who was General Counsel of the CIO itself. Pressman later confessed that he had been a party member and said Abt was a member of the same cell within our government in Washington.

Douglas is noted for his ready resort to language which has been described as Elizabethan, a trait which brought him a police blot pointed reproach from the chairman of a merry-making society of the grigiron type in Washington. Invited to membership, Douglas made a speech so lusty that the chairman put him on probation, though he finally was admitted.

A few years ago, Douglas went to the annual convention of the to the annual convention, CIO in Seattle and made a speech which provoked speculations as to his availability as a candidate for President with the endorsement and financial support of the CIO. I interviewed Douglas in his chambers soon afterward. He insisted that he had done no wrong. He said he had the same right as any other citizen-taxpayer to take sides in public matters. The CIO is a litigious political group, but Justice Douglas did not concede that this fact should have obliged him to keep aloof. Others had questioned the propriety of his conduct.

The brochure of the Sidney Hillman Foundation says Douglas was thus "honored" "as a world spokesman for freedom and economic justice and for his unwavering sup-

Peace Award May Go to Mr. Truman

OSLO, Norway (UP) — The name of former President Harry S. Truman leads this year's secret list of nominations for the coveted Nobel Peace Prize, authoritative sources said today.

The list of nominees, which has been published yearly since the war, was withheld from the public on orders of the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament.

The winner of the award will be announced sometime between September and November of this year and the prize will be presented at Oslo University on Dec. 10.

However, the sources said Mr. Truman's name headed a list of 25 individuals who have been proposed for the award.

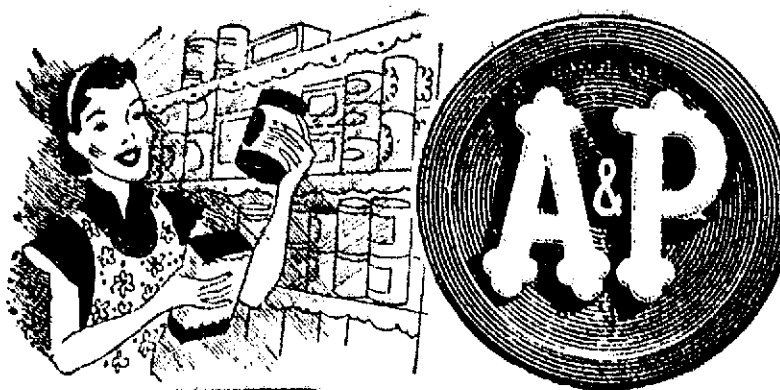

Dunbar Jahn, chairman of the parliamentary Nobel committee, said it was decided to return to the pre-war practice of withholding names of candidates because their publication had proved "unsatisfactory."

port of individual liberties." The brochure boasts that the late Prof. Harold Laski, of the London school of economics, gave a series of lectures for the "Foundation". It does not mention the fact that Laski was legally adjudged a Communist by a jury in England nor the fact that the New York Times, which regards him as a great man, openly spoke of him as an apologist for communism.

Lonoke Flash Seeks Fifth Straight Win

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — Lonoke Flash the Henry Forrest speedster holding the Oklahoma Park record for five and a half furlongs, sought his third successive victory of the current meeting over the 6-furlong distance today.

The bay son of Occupation and Lockin' Cook was faced by some formidable opposition in the featured Ford Dealer's Purse.

E. B. McAttee's Little Danny was twoweighted at 116 pounds, but Mrs. H. G. Knott's My Dividend and William Fudge's My Time were regarded as the chief threats to Lonoke Flash.

Others in the field of 4-year-olds and up included Marion H. Van Burg's entry of Mock Battle and McGrathanna; Red Top 3's Red Charger, C. E. Buckley's Red Romeo and Mrs. Steve Ippolito's Lucky Pete.

My Dividend, a fast track horse, finished third in the King Cotton Handicap and was impressive in two victories before that.

The consistent My Time won the Showman's Purse.

Lonoke Flash defeated good fields in winning the Elks and Eastern Arkansas Purses. Red

Charger was second to the Flash in both of those events.

Yesterday's featured Oklahoma Preview, carrying a 5,000 purse, was won by Sidney A. Alexander's Sir Gallant. Alasosca was second by a length in the 4-furlong sprint for 2-year-olds. Judy Foray came in third.

Sir Gallant crossed the wire in 1:46.3—two fifths of a second slower than the track record. He paid 4.0-5.

AS DEREK, a row across the bridge into West Beach, then took Route one north. Don leaned forward and said in a low voice to Carol, "I thought you told me Mrs. Felton was in Miami."

Carol felt her face grow hot. "I thought she might be."

"You didn't think anything of the sort," he said roughly. "Did she tell you not to tell me where she was?"

He lowered his voice and went on, "But he knew. What sort of place is this? I've tried to tell you."

Derek swerved round a truck, then half-turned towards them. "What are you two chattering about?"

Mr. Haskin was asking me what sort of place Driftwood Inn is."

"As though glad of the excuse to talk of something impersonal, Derek launched into an enthusiastic description. The hotel consisted of four rustic dwellings built entirely out of driftwood right on the beach.

"A magazine article recently described it as a 'carnival of sea fragments and a castle of discarded, used parts,'" he said, laughing. "The owner, a cattle rancher named Waldo Sexton, originally built a few shacks out of driftwood as a beach house for his family. When tourists began coming asking for rooms, he added to it and the idea for an unconventional hotel was born. No one bothers to dress up, most of the meals are served barbecue style out in the courtyard and guests are speeded on their way by the enthusiastic clanging of numerous ships' bells."

"It sounds fun," Carol murmured, but somehow she couldn't picture Thelma Felton in that setting.

They drove through Fort Pierce, a center, Derek told them, for deep-sea fishing, and soon they had turned off the main highway, were bumping along an uneven road that went down to the shore.

Some guests must have been leaving just as they turned into Driftwood; ships' bells were clanging madly, people were rushing around shouting and it looked like sheer pandemonium. They didn't see Thelma, but Ann-Winnie, the talented young manager's sister, told them her room was on the front facing the sea. They climbed a rustic, twisting stairway that looked thought might collapse under them, knocked on a door studded with nails and bolts, and heard Thelma's cool voice call, "Come in."

Don opened the door; they walked in. And there was a pause. Carol thought afterwards it was the longest pause she had ever known. A pause while three of them looked at Thelma and she stared back at them. Her face was not so much surprised as shocked as though she couldn't credit what she saw. And Carol saw again in her wide light-blue eyes a definite fear as she looked at Don.

The room was dim and cool, the furniture behind Thelma, flooded the balcony. It felt as though where she stood, her face was lit by a light that came from within.

"What a beautiful room," Carol said, looking at the balcony. "I don't know where she's been, but she's been here."

"I don't know," Carol said, looking at the balcony. "I don't know where she's been, but she's been here."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHOENIX, Ariz. — "If the Army had let me have Willie Mays back," said Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants, "I would have been ready right now to tell you we would win the pennant. I would have been willing to put it down on paper. Now I just don't know."

The game's loudest manager was trying, as best he could, to explain the problems he now faces in putting together a lineup which will stand the best chance of overhauling Brooklyn in the coming National League race. He put his cards on the table.

"With Willie in center field we would have been all set," he said. "Bob Thomson likes to play third base better than center, and he hits better when he's there. I'm still going to try to keep him there and play Henry Thompson in center. I might have to change later, but that's the way I intend to go right now."

It was suggested to Leo that his pitchers preferred to have the best flycatcher available out there in the open spaces.

"Nuts to that," he said. "Pitchers also like to have a good man at third, a tall, rangy fellow like Bobby who can knock down those drives and field those bunts. I want myself a tight infield, even if it means I'll have two comparatively weak outfield spots with Henry in center and Don Nuebler in right."

"I've just got to wait and see. If Davey Williams comes back around it might be—might be, I say—that I'll play him at second."

Charger was second to the Flash in both of those events.

Al Dark at short and my rookie, Daryl Spencer, at third. That's my lineup today, but you'll notice that Hank Thompson still is playing center."

A few moments later this no longer was the Giants' lineup. Ferris Fain, the Chicago White Sox's new first baseman, threw a jolting block into Williams to break up a potential double play at second and hurt the little guy's back all over again. He was replaced by Ronnie Sanford, and the next time Fain came to bat he nearly had his head taken off by one of pitcher Dave Koslo's fast balls.

"Those two days of rain in San Francisco last week set us back badly," Durocher said. "We were able at least to see what some of my boys could do. Now I've got to change all my training routine and it will take another two weeks to get back where we were."
